A Soldier – His Prayer

(This anonymous poem was blown by the wind into a slit trench at El Agheila during a heavy bombardment.)

Stay with me, God. The night is dark,
The night is cold: my little spark
Of courage dies. The night is long;
Be with me, God, and make me strong.

I love a game. I love a fight.
I hate the dark; I love the light.
I love my child; I love my wife.
I am no coward, I love Life,

Life with its change of mood and shade.
I want to live. I'm not afraid,
But me and mine are hard to part;
Oh, unknown God, lift up my heart.

You stilled the waters at Dunkirk
And saved Your Servants. All your work
Is wonderful, dear God. You strode
Before us down that dreadful road.

We were alone, and hope had fled;
We loved our country and our dead,
And could not shame them; so we stayed
The course, and were not much afraid.

Dear God, that nightmare road! And then
That sea! We got there – we were men.
My eyes were blind, my feet were torn,
My soul sang like a bird at dawn!

I knew that death is but a door.
I knew what we were fighting for:
Peace for the kids, our brothers freed,
A kinder world, a cleaner breed.

I'm but the son my mother bore,
A simple man, and nothing more.
But – God of strength and gentleness,
Be pleased to make me nothing less.

Help me, O God, when Death is near
To mock the haggard face of fear,
That when I fall – if fall I must –
My soul may triumph in the Dust.

Greetings to the Class of 1971:

You hold a very special place in the history of Barnard, for your graduation coincides with the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of The Barnard School for Girls.

You are the inheritors of a long and distinguished tradition. What has that meant to you? Sometimes consciously, sometimes not, you have reaped the benefit of seventy-five years of concerted effort on the part of many dedicated individuals who have served your school and given of themselves: their toil, their time, their talents and their money so that this school must survive, and continue to transmit the values and provide the kind of total learning experience that are the hallmark of a Barnard School education.

During your years at Barnard you have learned the basic tools of your trade as a student. You have also learned techniques for attacking and solving problems beyond the classroom, and, we trust, you have learned the value of courtesy, cooperation and consideration for others.

As you prepare to embark on a new adventure, you take with you the hopes and good wishes of your school. We hope that you will become involved – that you will be active participants in life, not passive onlookers. We hope that you will be able to use your talents and training to good purpose, so that a day, a place, a stiuation, a family, a community will be better for your having lived there and done something.

My special wish for you, the members of the Class of 1971, is that each one of you will be able to get where you want to be. Where that is, is up to you. How you get there is very much our concern.

Where will you be in 1996 when Barnard celebrates her 100th anniversary? The choices open to you are almost unlimited and many were unknown to your Barnard sisters of 75, 50, or even 30 years ago.

My hope is that you will amount to something; that your lives will count for something; and that, as you grow away from us, your bonds with Barnard School will grow stronger. We shall rejoice in your triumphs; we shall need your support.

Finally, my most earnest hope is that as you become involved and as you grow in effectiveness, you will grow also in wisdom and grace, so that you will become considerate, thoughtful human beings, sensitive to the needs of your own families and of the family of man.

Encendida de nuevo,

Una llama arde con brillo

Chispea . . .

En todo su esplendor

La llama se levanta hasta su pico.

Y luego, su magnitud

Lentamente

Disminuye en una ultima guiñada.

El aliciente está quemado ido

La luz oscurece

El fuego, silencioso

Vacilante . . .

Esta estinguido

Newly lit

A flame burns with brilliance

It flickers . . .

In all its splendor

The flame rises to its peak.

And then, its strength

Slowly

Diminishes to a final flicker.

The candle is burned,

The light vanishes,

The silent flame,

Trembling . . .

Is extinguished forever.

One More Unjust Sacrifice; Elegy for a Soldier

Sons of tattered angels have told me of your fate –
Careening
Flying
Whipping winds
Blinded you
Lashed your laughing
Face
Silver road that Seemed to beckon
Faster
Faster
And then . . .
Screeches of a mad machine! and silence . . .
soft farewell.
Winds dare not Whisper
Dancing lights
Extinguished
And you still Lie
Bound as Ixion
To flaming wheels
of Death
Streaks of howling tears and pain will scar our souls throughout these raving days. A savage song has taught us more than we might wish to know.

"To Dance is to Live"

"No amusement seems more to have a foundation in our nature. The animation of youth overflows spontaneously in harmonious movements. The true idea of dancing entitles it to favor. Its end is to realize perfect grace in motion; and who does not know that a sense of the graceful is one of the higher faculties of our nature?"

There is only one hopeless task and that task is to endeavor to fathom the secrets of the universe before one has discovered oneself and understood oneself.

My seeing of truth can be an uncertain fact of life. Likewise my feeling, too. But never, never my growing into the truth. My growing into the truth is the most certain factor of life.

I love life because God is life. I love God because God alone knows and tells me that He and I are one.

Yoga is the search for self-realization. Self-realization either ends in absolute self-withdrawal or in total God-manifestation.

Do not try to approach God with your thinking mind. It may only stimulate your intellectual ideas, activites and beliefs. Try to approach God with your crying heart. It will awaken your soulful, spiritual consciousness.

Surrender to God's Will is the highest realization of our hidden power.

Love is experience itself. It is the wisdom of our soul's light. Human personality and God realization do not talk to each other. NEVER.

There are two reasons why I don't speak to doubt. Doubt says to me that the world does not love me, and that I don't need God. And who is responsible for the fear? Man, the ignorant mind. I found the truth. I told the world. The world ridiculed. I found the truth. I told God. God, smiling said: "My child, you have found Me, too."

The fountains mingle with the river,
And the rivers with the ocean,
The winds of heaven mix forever
With a sweet emotion;
Nothing in the world is single;
All things by a law divine
In one another's being mingle —
Why not I with thine?

And the waves clasp one another;

The Ocean

Why is the ocean so big?
It is so vast and deep,
Fish make their homes there,
How many secrets do they keep?
What is under that big mass of blue?
Sea shells and greenery wash upon the rocks and shore
Schools of fish are caught more and more.
When the sun is shining, you can see the ocean laugh with glee:
But when a storm arrives the ocean seems angry at me,
The sun sets, the sun falls,
It is so very nice to see, reflected on the deep dark sea.
You are so vast and deep,
What secrets do you keep?

Marion Rosenfeld

Oy!

Peace through meditation

I think I've got it!

Finally got some sleep!

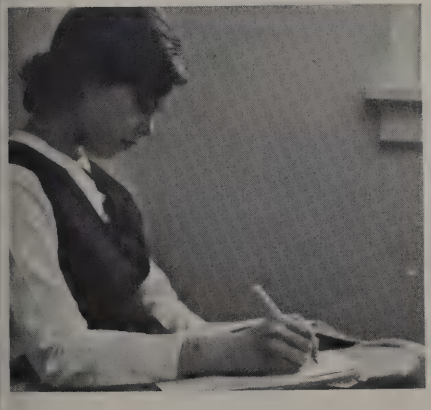
Now come on Girls . . .



Good old trimesters!

Santa has changed!

Many thanks to our patient advisor, whose wise counsel has helped us in our endeavor to make this yearbook a

SKIN CARE FOR YOUNG IS ADVISED
"I CAN CORRECT PROBLEMS, BUT I WOULD RATHER PREVENT THEM", – Miss Kay says. Although Miss Kay's clients include women of all ages, she is intensely interested in young skins. Miss Kay, a facial expert, believes that 12 or 14 is not too early to start a girl on a series of skin care.

Farewell to you and the youth I have spent with you.

It was but yesterday we met in a dream.

You have sung to me in my aloneness, and I of your longings have built a tower in the sky.

But now our sleep has fled and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn.

The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to fuller day, and we must part.

If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall speak again together and you shall sing to me a deeper song.

And if our hands should meet in another dream we shall build another tower in the sky.

KAHLIL GIBRAN
